A SUMMARY OF THE NEWS

The Senate yesterday completed the disincorporation of the Administration when, instead of voting to repeal the Taft-Hartley Law, it adopted Senator Taft's modified version of that law, 51 o 42. The House probably will not act on the measure, so the present law will remain in force. President Truman said he would keep fighting as hard as he could for repeal.

Both House and Senate moved to cut numerous excise taxes to pre-war levels. The Senate Finance Committee, 7 to 6, voted for such action on 15 levies, including those on amusements, luxuries and utilities. Minority Leader Martin sought to bring a similar measure to the House floor.

The House Foreign Affairs Committee, on the urgent plea of the State Department, approved the $150,000,000 Korean aid bill. In China, Communist leader Mao said his followers could not "sit on the fence" but belonged "to the anti-imperialist front headed by Russia." No real help, he declared, could come from the United States or Britain.

Bernard M. Baruch stood by his charge that the nation lacked an industrial mobilization plan despite President Truman's statement that Mr. Baruch was badly informed.

TO PHOTOGRAPH PENNA. FROM 12,750' HEIGHT

Planes Equipped With Latest Type Cameras To Do The Job

DURING NEXT 2 YRS.

For the next two years planes will be flying at a fixed height of 12,750 feet over the surface of Pennsylvania. These planes will be equipped with the latest type of aerial cameras to photograph, for a second time, every square mile of our State.

Ten years ago, just in time to be of great service to the preparations for National defense, a similar program was completed at the instance of the State Planning Board, through cooperative efforts of several State departments and the United States Department of Agriculture. That first series of air photographs proved to be of very great importance as an aid in the rapid location of war industries and in planning military installations. After Pearl Harbor, most of these photographs could be released only on approval of the military authorities.

When they became available again, at the close of the war, they were used by many communities as a basis for planning and zoning.

JUVENILE BICYCLISTS ENDANGERING LIVES

Believed More Stringent Punishment Will Have To Be Inflicted

DISREGARD THE LAW

Death is lurking on the streets of Bristol every day now that the schools have closed and juvenile bicycle riders are riding at random in the borough. Each day the police stop some of these traffic law violators and give them warnings. But it means nothing; they go right on violating the law.

It would appear as though arrests will have to be made and heavy fines imposed or bicycles confiscated. If the danger is to be eliminated and the children's lives saved, the youngsters ride the wrong way on one-way streets. They ride with more than one on a bicycle and in their haste to get to the swimming beaches, they take all kinds of chances. Many a motorist's heart has skipped a beat as a heedless bicyclist has dashed out of a street where he had no right to be and just missed being run-down.

BRACKEN POST JR. CORPS HAS HEAVY SUMMER SCHEDULE

Will Enter Both The State and National Competitions

REORGANIZED IN 1947

Rapidly Regaining Outstanding Position; Practicing Diligently

A heavy and challenging program is ahead of the Junior Cadet Drum and Bugle Corps of Robert W. Bracken Post, American Legion.

The musical aggregation has as a high-light of its summer schedule entrance into state championship competition at the American Legion state convention at Pittsburgh on the 10th of August; followed by competition for the national championship at the national sessions of the Legion in Philadelphia on September 2nd. The national championship is now held by the Garfield Holy Name Cadets of New Jersey.

The Cadet Corps is said to be rapidly regaining its former position as one of the outstanding junior drum and bugle corps in the country. It was completely reorganized in 1947, and made great progress during 1948 under leadership of Arthur Straccio, with instruction by Robert Cotter, Jr., leader of the famous Jersey Joes' of Riverside American Legion Post, national American Legion champions.

Corps members have been practicing faithfully two nights a week since last October with John Dowlan, of the Reilly Raiders Corps, Philadelphia, taking over the instruction. A new type of music has been developed for the competition field.

Appearance of this group at the band parade in Trenton, N. J., May 28th, gained for it first honors, and a prize of $100, then on June 18th the corps represented Lakewood, N. J., Elks at the Elks state convention at Atlantic City, N. J., and made a fine showing in the boardwalk parade.

The next appearance of the corps will be at Dorney Park, Allentown, on Monday evening, the local aggregation competing against eight of the finest junior corps in Pennsylvania. Buses will leave the post home at three p. m., July 4th. Prizes of $2000 are to be awarded winners.

The schedule also includes competition at Langhorne on July 24th; and at the Osmond post sponsored affair on August 6th in Philadelphia. Competitions pending are at Mount Holly and Bordentown, N. J., and several up-state cities.

ONE MAN'S OPINION

By Walter Kiernan

(Distributed by International News Service)

Government refusal to recognize the blockade of Chinese ports was to be expected . . . it wasn't organized by Harry Bridges.

Bridges on the basis of his two-month siege of Hawaii, could have told the Nationalist Government they'd have to put out sampans with signs reading "Pass This Port By" to get recognition.

Of course the Berlin blockade was broken by an airlift but the Bridges' blockade stands firm unless Honolulu cares to move to Europe.

And for all the 48 states seem to care, the potential 49th state might as well move to China. The trouble with Hawaiians is they're Americans.

Hawaii does have a delegate in Congress but he's no match for Bridges' delegates in Hawaii and I don't see any government branch building muscles for him.

There's considerably more than pineapples involved here and I don't mean anyone's head.

REVISED VERSION

Nearly 500 years ago a famous Spaniard, Ponce de Leon, seeking a fabled fountain of youth, landed on these shores, being credited with discovering what is now Florida. Failing to find the object of his search, he attempted to settle the appendage of land, became involved in a ruckus with the natives and was killed.

His story is one of the most interesting to be found in the annals of history. Now, centuries later, word comes from an English village that an 80-year-old man has found the secret of youth, and in recent months has taken 15 years off his age, and expects to be restored to youthful vigor.

According to his story, he recently found a recipe left by his grandmother. Following this, he brews a concoction from garden nettles, dandelions and fresh green shoots, adding a few ingredients that he refuses to name.

He boils the stuff three hours, adds lemon juice, honey and yeast much in the old reliable manner of concocting home brew. His gray hair is turning black. He is growing a new set of teeth. Doctors say he is showing definite signs of regaining his youth, but do not endorse the elixir.

The old boy, of course, is only kidding himself and will be gathered to his fathers care many years have passed. But the dream of recovering lost youth will persist until the end of time. Youth is man's greatest heritage. His efforts to regain it are always more pitiable than profitable.

END THIS CONFUSION

By a 5-to-4 vote, the Supreme Court ruled the other day that an oil company in California cannot pursue the familiar American pattern of making filling stations the outlet of its products to the exclusion of other products. By a bare majority the court said this violates the anti-trust laws by lessening competition.

There has been little complaint about the filling station system. Even the court conceded it might be all right. But five of the justices said they were forced to rule as they did because of the laws. It is widely charged that the ruling will be confusing to business generally.

Confusion of the national laws governing business has long been recognized. Many a businessman has gone to Washington to learn what he could do, only to encounter conflicting interpretations. Many a constructive program has been stifled because the bureaucrats couldn't or wouldn't tell the promoters whether they would be prosecuted or not. Every businessman in his daily operations encounters similar confusion.

Isn't it about time for Congress to take a few weeks off from consideration of grand new projects and attempt to make laws governing business plain enough for the courts and the bureaus to understand. Such action would encourage business and aid in paying the taxes the politicians so urgently need.

Business, not Washington bureaucracy, is the base of employment and the general welfare.

Change Andalusia Troop Number; Girls in Camp

ANDALUSIA, July 1—It has been announced that the Tuesday group of Girl Scout troop 27 has received a new number and will be called hereafter Andalusia Troop 66. At a meeting the group received instructions in square dancing. Coming events in scouting were discussed. The Mothers' Association will hold a sale of baked goods on July 2nd at 10 a. m. in Andalusia postoffice. The Wednesday group continued with its work on the back-yard campership. Amana was cleaned. A lunch rack and tool box were hatched to trees. At a later time menus for outdoor cooking will be planned. Mrs. Norman Gaugier assisted Mrs. James Doncker.

The following members of troop 27 left for a week's visit to Indian Run camp on Tuesday: Rose Doncker, Betty Ann Ferguson, Norma Gaugier, Patricia Keller, Carol Osterman, Hazel Reyer, Carol Stewart, Sheila Stern, Eileen Wright, Wilmer Stern and Mrs. William H. Peabody.

Sounding its own fire alarm Wednesday morning at 1:30, a convertible coupe, belonging to Ronald Brooks, of Quarry road, one mile east of Bedminster, called three fire companies.

According to Fire Chief Walter D. Rush, of the Plumsteadville Fire Company, the car was hauled on the firehouse floor of the main barn. It had been put away just a short while, when the Brooks and a neighbor heard the horn of the car blowing. The two families poured water on the flaming car and managed to push it from the barn, which held hay and had a shingle roof, just before the Plumsteadville engines arrived.

Origin of the fire was undetermined. Just the seating section of the vehicle was destroyed. Fire companies from Dublin and Doylestown also responded, but some difficulty was experienced in finding the location of the fire, the name of the road being unfamiliar.

Equip Dis't Foresters With Slide Projectors

HARRISBURG, July 1—(INS)—To provide better service to the organizations requesting lecture service, the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters has equipped their district foresters with small color slide projectors and two lectures of color slides.

Foresters are now prepared to explain and show "how trees grow" and "the proper treatment of farm woodlots."

Lectures on additional subjects will be made available to the public through department field offices in the near future.

Organizations interested in securing this service should write to the nearest district forester's office.

HARRISBURG, July 1—(INS)—Sixty woodlot owners and farmers were given woodland-management assistance by foresters of the Pennsylvania Department of Forests and Waters during the last thirty day period.

Over 4,000 acres of woodland were treated. A total of 675 thousand board feet of timber was marked for proper cutting and an additional three quarters of a million feet were inventoried and management plans prepared.

There was an immediate gross return to the landowners of $10,685 and placed the treated woodlots in a condition for better future yields.

IF BRICK IS YOUR CHOICE

DESIGNED ACCORDING TO THE principle of modular co-ordination, through which building materials of pre-determined sizes are used to cut construction costs, this brick house can be put up either as a basic four-room-and-bath affair, for later expansion, or complete with six rooms.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

FROM time to time in this space, there has been discussion of homes designed according to the principle of modular co-ordination. This means simply that the construction of the house is planned so that building materials of pre-determined sizes can be used in order to effect substantial economies.

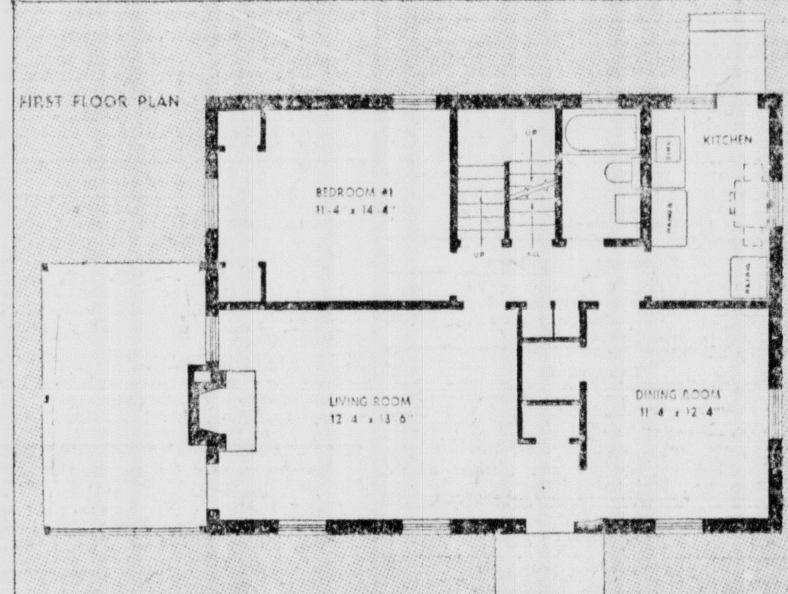

Specifically shown have been a number of brick houses whose designs have followed this principle.

Now, for those many home builders who would be inclined to choose brick for that new house they plan to own at the earliest possible date, there is available a very complete, and nominally priced, booklet which tells the full story of modern brick homes in terms of modular co-ordination.

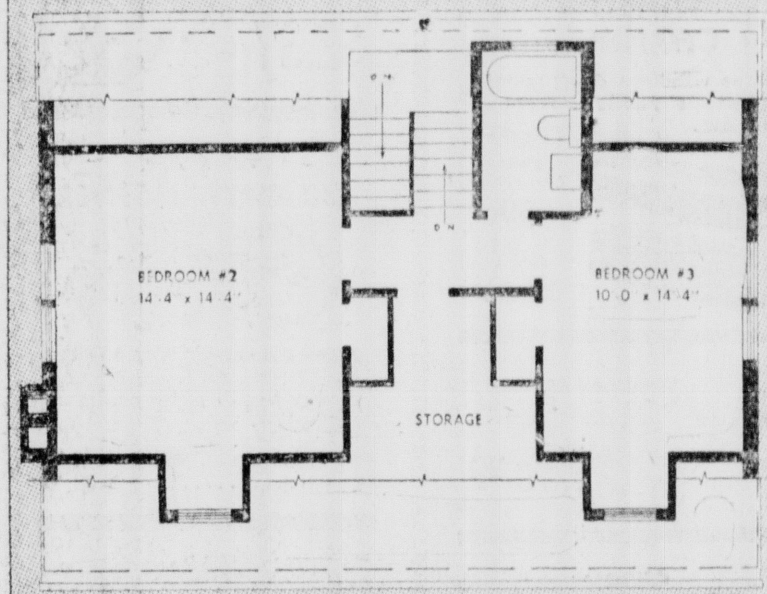

Twenty individual brick homes are pictured in the booklet, each with its floor plans and specifications. Pictured, also, are a variety of interiors, to spark the imagination of the person planning to build, as well as a group of photographs showing different types of living room fireplaces—a central feature of any house that no modern home owner wants to be without.

In addition to the pictorial material, there is reading matter dealing with choosing your building site, selecting your architectural plan, accepted methods of financing a home building project, important basic building points to consider, and suggestions about interiors and room planning.

Detailed working plans of any one of the houses shown in the booklet can be had at modest cost. Also available for a trifling sum are home planning kits covering each individual house and containing respectively an enlarged illustration of the house; enlarged, simplified, easy-to-read floor plans; cut-out scale furniture which can be placed in each room on the floor plans and arranged and re-arranged until you have worked out rooms that are closest to your heart's desire; and a list of the key materials required for construction of the house from which your building contractor should be able to give you a reasonably accurate preliminary estimate of costs. For a final cost estimate, the detailed building plans would be needed.

THE FIRST FLOOR PLAN has dining room, living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath. As a basic unit, the dining room might be used as a second bedroom.

TWO MORE BEDROOMS AND another bath make up the second floor, which can be finished at the time of original building, or when the budget allows.

These booklets, titled "Modern Brick Homes," and priced at 50 cents, can be bought at most newsstands, or they can be ordered direct from the publisher, the Structural Clay Products Institute, 1756 K St., N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

A HOME PLANNING KIT, with enlarged floor plans and cut-out scale furniture for room arranging, can be had to cover any house in the booklet.

Criminal Information Involves Andalusia Firm

PHILADELPHIA, July 1—A criminal information was filed in the United States District Court against Fillmore C. Rosen, owner of the Ardmore Hosiery Mills, Rear of 23 W. Lancaster avenue, Ardmore, and the Charm Hosiery Mills, Mill Road, Andalusia, who is engaged in the production of ladies' full fashion nylon hosiery, charging violations of the provisions of the Wage and Hour Law.

This was announced today by Ernest N. Votaw, regional attorney, U. S. Department of Labor, who filed the information against Rosen. He is charged with having engaged employees in the manufacture of hosiery and the information alleges that many of his employees were not paid overtime. It further alleges that he has kept inadequate and inaccurate employment records at both plants and has shipped in interstate commerce goods produced in violation of the Fair Labor Standards Act. The violations were disclosed through an investigation made under the direction of Frank J. G. Dorsey, regional director, Wage and Hour and Public Contracts Divisions of the U. S. Department of Labor.

Housing Allocations Listed; Bucks Included

HARRISBURG, July 1.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's $50,000,000 housing and redevelopment program was accelerated today by the State Planning Board's allocation of the $15,000,000 contributed to the job by the Legislature.
Final allocation of state funds will not be made until after August 15 while participants must file all pertinent data on projects by November 1, the Board said. The State's share, an outright gift, is to be supplemented with private capital and possible Federal funds.
The State's contribution to individual programs is limited by law to 25 per cent of the total cost; rentals will be in line with income of occupants. Veterans will be given preference in renting.

Local governing bodies must adopt formal resolutions pledging co-operation by August 15.
The board has partitioned Pennsylvania into nine districts and made among others the following tentative allotments:
Southeastern District — Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties, $1,373,520.

TRIO OF RUNS WINS FOR FRANKLIN TEAM

TULLYTOWN, July 1 — Behind the steady pitching of "Jim" Brescia, the Franklin A. C. aggregation scored a trio of runs in the final stanza to win over Tullytown A. C. last evening on Kings Farm field. Final score was 6-3.

The loss dropped the Tullytown boys into third spot in the Bristol Suburban League and enabled the fourth-place Franklin club to gain ground on the leaders.

It was a 3-3 ball game going into the last frame. Angelo Spinelli started the fire going with a single to left. Brescia made a strikeout victim and Frank Barbetta was tossed out at first but Tom Kervick "Toby" Oriola, and Fred Fields followed with base knocks and three markers crossed the plate. Fields went out trying to stretch his hit into a two-bagger.

Claude Deitzler was the losing hurler and was hit harder than usual, Franklin having ten base blows, all singles.

Tullytown scored three runs in the initial frame on a hit by Norman White, a double by Phil Dinatale, a triple by Stan Carlen and single by Roy Lynch. Tony Biancosino also doubled and McSherry walked to load the bases but Luciano lifted a short fly to left which was taken by Ciotti and Zuchero struck out.

EDGELY, LEWIS LODGE HAVE 8-8 DEADLOCK

Edgely A. C. and the Lewis Lodge of Elks battled to an 8-8 deadlock last evening in a Bristol Suburban League game played on Memorial Park field.

The Edgelyites scored eight runs in the second frame after spotting the Lewis Lodge five markers. But the three-run lead of the Edgely team soon diminished as the Elks counted a run in the fourth and tied up the game in the sixth.

Wildness on the part of "Bill" Dunkelberger cost the Edgely team the game. Eleven walks were issued by the first Edgely twirler while "Jake" Accardi gave up two passes.

The eight Edgely runs were scored on hits by Dunkelberger, Joe Elmer, and Gordon Fahey, four walks and an error.

SUNDAY DINNER Suggestions

DURING the warm weather months when appetites are faded by rising temperatures, the average household manager would be wise to capitalize on preparing simple, non-cooked, dishes to offer her children and the family breadwinner.

To give the American housewife a well-earned respite from the drudgery of standing over a hot stove in summer, the A & P Service for Homemakers suggests a Sunday dinner of tomato and celery salad. Inexpensive and easy to prepare, a summer salad will afford the woman of the house more time to relax after a dinner which is certain to be welcomed as a comforting relief from heavy hot meals.

The ingredients for this tasty, tempting and appealing dish are: 6 tomatoes; 2 cups of diced celery; 1/2 cup mayonnaise, and lettuce leaves.

To prepare, select firm ripe tomatoes of good size, scald, peel and chill. Cut a slice from the top of each, and scoop out all the seeds and soft pulp, being careful not to break the sides. Cut celery into small dice, mix it with mayonnaise dressing, fill the shells with mixture, place one teaspoon of dressing on top of each tomato and serve individually on a bed of lettuce leaves, placing three or four small leaves on each plate and the tomato in the center. Radishes, cucumbers, green peppers and sliced carrots may be placed around the centerpiece to enhance the eye-appeal of tomato and celery salad.

This cooling summertime favorite topped off with a cool drink, such as iced tea, coffee or milk and a cold dessert will be light, nourishing and pleasing to all diners who look forward to the evening for a cool breeze and a refreshing dinner.

Home Life of Women in Japan is Well Described

CHURCHVILLE, July 1 — A native of Japan, Mrs. B. Tamura, now residing in Warminster, spoke to members of the Church League of Service here this week. Mrs. Tamura informed the members that women in Japan have the same interests in home, school, church and world peace as do women in America.

Mrs. Tamura also took the group on an imaginary visit to a Japanese home, which is very simply furnished, but will always have a flower arrangement because the people are naturally artistic.

Tea ceremonies and flower arrangements, said Mrs. Tamura, are two things that must be learned by every young woman before she is married.

The women, Mrs. Tamura said, have very little freedom. Schools are scarce and compulsory education stops at the elementary grades, but morals and discipline are stressed. Japan is full of religion. Confucianism, Buddhism and Shintoism still exist, and Christianity has not spread like in other countries, said Mrs. Tamura. Japanese people she said, need spiritual guidance now as never before, they also need physical help.

Several dolls, dishes, chopsticks etc., were on display, and Margaret Loughhead modeled a beautiful silk kimono, which in Japan are always made by hand.

One of the symptoms of our modern moral breakdown is the frequency, with which the word "hell" is being used as an expletive in "polite" society. The modern novel, the modern playhouse, even some modern periodicals have come to accept "hell" as just another punctuation mark.

Unfortunately, a concept cannot be made less hideous by its frequent use. Hell will remain hell whether we use the word or not. And hell will remain hell whether we like the idea or not.

The idea of future punishment is an integral and inseparable part of the Christian religion. Yes, there is a hell!

activities and to correct tax assessor's maps. In one county many parcels of land were discovered on which tax assessments had not been levied for a number of years. The photographs have been used extensively in deciding on industrial plant locations and in planning the routes for new state highways, including the extensions of the Pennsylvania Turnpike. They have also been used to make a complete survey of Pennsylvania's forest land. The new program will provide a record of all changes in land use during the past ten years, and will enable State and local agencies to estimate the effect of industrial development and mining practices on agriculture and forest growth. It will provide a means for planning the location of flood control dams and for gauging the effectiveness of forest and soil conservation practices over the past ten years. It will also provide every community in the state with a basis for land-use maps and for revising their programs of public improvement.

The improvement in apparatus and techniques developed during the war will add greatly to the usefulness of these new photographs. Enlargements will be possible to a scale that will reveal such surface details as the parking of cars and trucks or the density of travel along the highways.

In some parts of the State the photographs will be taken on infrared films which will enable the Department of Forests and Waters to distinguish between existing stands of evergreen and deciduous trees.

To make possible this important work of providing a new and complete picture of the whole area of the Commonwealth, five Government agencies have agreed to support this program. These are the Pennsylvania Departments of Forests and Waters, Highways, Mines, the State Planning Board of the Department of Commerce, which will become the custodian of the photographs, and the United States Department of Agriculture.

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELERSON

Opening today... bass, the most sought-after species of fresh water fish in this section of the Commonwealth, if not in the entire State, became legal this morning at 12:01 a. m.

A report of opening day results is not possible as this is being written, but it is a safe bet that the Canal will be the biggest producer, in spite of the fact that the water level is very low.

The usual assortment of flies, bugs, streamers, plugs, spoons and garden hackles will be offered by anglers seeking this fresh water fighter at Maple Beach, Silver Lake and the Canal. Surface plugs will probably take the biggest toll during the early morning hours with underwater lures more effective during the day.

The same rules apply as last year, with the minimum size still nine inches and the daily creel still remaining at six.

Pickering, walleyes, muskellunge and great northern pike also became legal today on inland waters of the Commonwealth. The pickered will no doubt furnish plenty of sport for local fishermen, with the same Canal producing the most of the species. Pickering must be a foot long to be "keepers" with the same daily creel limit as bass.

Meeting... Walt Parker, secretary of the Newportville Rod & Gun Club, advises that the next meeting of his club will be held Wednesday, July 6th, at 8:30 p. m. All members are asked to be in attendance. The meeting will be held at the club house on Haunted Lane, Eddington. The annual picnic and outing of the club is scheduled for all day Sunday, July 10th. Members and their friends are welcome.

A good cause... duck stamps, which annually become void after June 30, will give double aid to wildfowl conservation under a plan advanced by Ducks Unlimited.

Duck hunters are asked to donate their old stamps for sale to stamp collectors. Proceeds will be used for duck production projects on the Canadian breeding grounds.

Just leave the stamps attached to state hunting licenses and mail to Ducks Unlimited, 342 Madison Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

Conflicting reports... sportsmen, who have an opportunity to get around the countryside these days give varying reports on the number of young pheasants seen in their travels. Some haven't seen any while others declare there seems to be a better supply of young birds than for the past several years.

One thing is certain, if dry weather is conducive to pheasant rearing in the wild state then we should have a good season. One evening, during the beginning of this week, I saw 5 different lots of young pheasants within a radius of 5 miles of Bristol. This is more than I have seen for several years.

Closed... don't plan on shooting a mountain sheep in Alaska this year. The season has been closed by the Fish & Wildlife Service for the first time in the Territory's history.

Mark it down... the third, big quarterly meeting of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association will be held Tuesday evening, July 12th. Full details will be announced next week. The principal speaker will be J. Allen Barrett, director of publicity and public relations for the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, who has an appealing message for both youths and adults.

Bagful... Ollie Hobbs, Bristol's best all-around fisherman, called me one evening recently and asked me to stop by. When I arrived he was awaiting with a tremendously big canvas sack which was securely tied. Ollie was still in a pair of trunks and thoroughly sunburned. When asked what was on his mind Ollie replied by inviting me to his basement where he untied the sack and dumped 7 nice snapping turtles into a metal wash tub. They filled the tub. Largest one weighed over 15 pounds. They represented one day's catch with rod and reel at Silver Lake. Ollie also had another monster, over 25 pounds, which he captured in a New Jersey lake.

FIFTH WARD WINS ITS 8TH GAME IN SUBURBAN LEAGUE

Fifth Ward Sporting Club won its eighth game of the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening by winning over St. Ann's A. A. by the lopsided score of 17-4 on Memorial Park field.

The Warders made a total of 14 hits off the two St. Ann's hurlers, Fred Barbetta and Steve Alsine. The winners were also aided by eight St. Ann's miscues.

Manager "Reds" Pica used 15 players in the game, giving all his players a chance to see action. Pica and "Bumps" Constantino had two hits each for the Warders.

Henry Liberatore held the losers to eight hits. One of these was a tremendous drive to left field in the final frame by John Monachello and was good for a home run.

LUKENS' SINGLE IS AID TO FLANNERY'S

PENNDLE, July 1 — Joe Lukens' single in the last half of the ninth inning gave Flannery's Eagles their second straight win of the second half of the Bristol Suburban Baseball League here last evening. Flannery's nosed out Voltz-Texaco, 5-4.

Lukens stepped to the plate with one out and Dale Miller on second when he delivered his winning base knock. Miller had pinch-hit for Ferrill and singled to left. Howard Black batted for Martindale and popped up to the pitcher. Tom Pursell hit to Pappaterra who erred and then Lukens hit safely to score Miller.

Voltz had deadlocked the score at 4-4 in the top part of the eighth when Sackville drew a walk and after Cross struck out was forced at second on Ludwig's fly to the out-field which dropped safely between two fielders. Saxton flied to Lukens but the latter dropped the ball. Barney Ludwig scoring. Paul Leighton counted Saxton with a sharp hit to left. Leighton and Paul Roby started on the mound for their teams with Roby going out in the eighth. "Charlie" Martindale who relieved him was the winning pitcher. Leighton gave up five hits while Voltz-Texaco had six hits to its credit.

FRIDAY, JULY 1, 1949

REVISED VERSION

Nearly 500 years ago a famous Spaniard, Ponce de Leon, seeking a fabled fountain of youth, landed on these shores, being credited with discovering what is now Florida. Failing to find the object of his search, he attempted to settle the appendage of land, became involved in a ruckus with the natives and was killed.

His story is one of the most interesting to be found in the annals of history. Now, centuries later, word comes from an English village that an 80-year-old man has found the secret of youth, and in recent months has taken 15 years off his age, and expects to be restored to youthful vigor.

According to his story, he recently found a recipe left by his grandmother. Following this, he brews a concoction from garden nettles, dandelions and fresh green shoots, adding a few ingredients that he refuses to name.

He boils the stuff three hours, adds lemon juice, honey and yeast much in the old reliable manner of concocting home brew. His gray hair is turning black. He is growing a new set of teeth. Doctors say he is showing definite signs of regaining his youth, but do not endorse the elixir.

The old boy, of course, is only kidding himself and will be garthered to his fathers as many years have passed. But the dream of recovering lost youth will persist until the end of time. Youth is man's greatest heritage. His efforts to regain it are always more pitiable than profitable.

END THIS CONFUSION

By a 5-to-4 vote, the Supreme Court ruled the other day that an oil company in California cannot pursue the familiar American pattern of making filling stations the outlet of its products to the exclusion of other products. By a bare majority the court said this violates the anti-trust laws by lessening competition.

There has been little complaint about the filling station system.
Even the court conceded it might be all right. But five of the justices said they were forced to rule as they did because of the laws.
It is widely charged that the ruling will be confusing to business generally.

Confusion of the national laws governing business has long been recognized. Many a businessman has gone to Washington to learn what he could do, only to encounter conflicting interpretations.
Many a constructive program has been stifled because the bureaucrats couldn't or wouldn't tell the promoters whether they would be prosecuted or not. Every businessman in his daily operations encounters similar confusion.

Isn't it about time for Congress to take a few weeks off from consideration of grand new projects and attempt to make laws governing business plain enough for the courts and the bureaus to understand. Such action would encourage business and aid it in paying the taxes the politicians so urgently need.

Business, not Washington
latency, is the base of employment and the general welfare.

Sounding its own fire alarm Wednesday morning at 1:30, a convertible coupe, belonging to Ronald Brooks, of Quarry road, one mile east of Berks, called three fire companies.

According to Fire Chief Walter
D. Hush, of the Plumsteadville Fire Company, the car was housed on the third floor of the main barn. It had been put away just a short while, when the Brooks and a neighbor heard the horn of the car blowing. The two families poured water on the flaming car and managed to push it from the barn, which held hay and had a single root, just before the Plum-steadville engines arrived.

Origin of the fire was undetermined. Just the seating section of the vehicle was destroyed. Fire companies from Dublin and Doyle-town also responded, but some difficulty was experienced in finding the location of the fire, the name of the road being unfamiliar.

IF BRICK IS YOUR CHOICE

DESIGNED ACCORDING TO THE principle of modular co-ordination, through which building materials of pre-determined sizes are used to cut construction costs, this brick house can be put up either as a basic four-room-and-bath affair, for later expansion, or complete with six rooms.

By MARION CLYDE McCARROLL

FROM time to time in this space, there has been discussion of homes designed according to the principle of modular co-ordination. This means simply that the construction of the house is planned so that building materials of pre-determined sizes can be used in order to effect substantial economies.

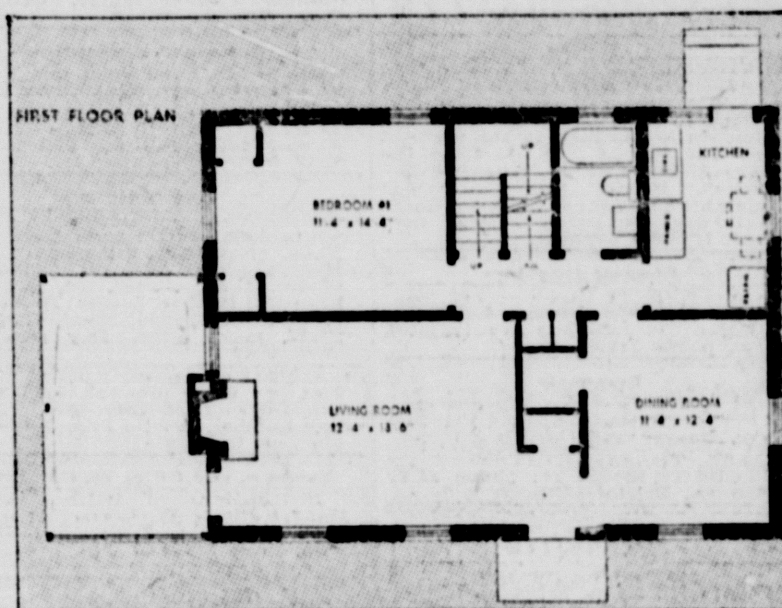

Specifically shown have been a number of brick houses whose designs have followed this principle.

Now, for those many home builders who would be inclined to choose brick for that new house they plan to own at the earliest possible date, there is available a very complete, and nominally priced, booklet which tells the full story of modern brick homes in terms of modular co-ordination.

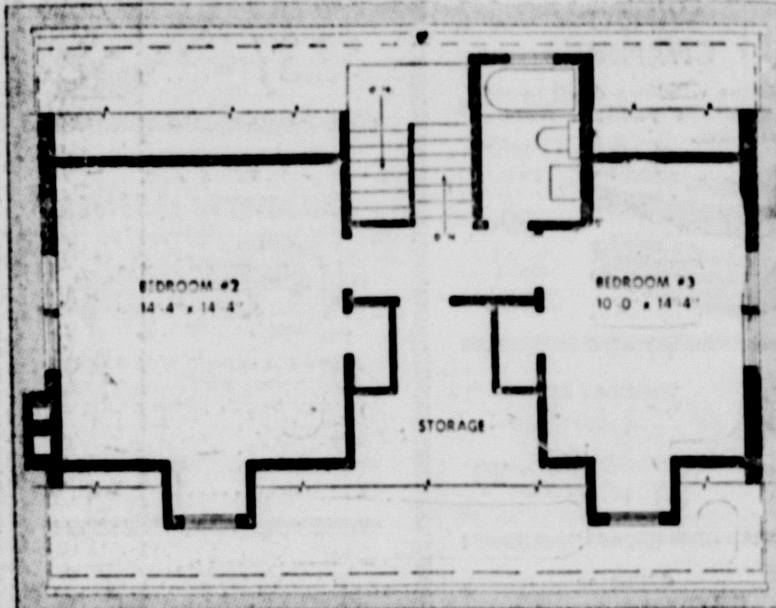

Twenty individual brick homes are pictured in the booklet, each with its floor plans and specifications. Pictured, also, are a variety of interiors, to spark the imagination of the person planning to build, as well as a group of photographs showing different types of living room fireplaces—a central feature of any house that no modern home owner wants to be without.

In addition to the pictorial material, there is reading matter dealing with choosing your building site, selecting your architectural plan, accepted methods of financing a home building project, important basic building points to consider, and suggestions about interiors and room planning.

Detailed working plans of any one of the houses shown in the booklet can be had at modest cost. Also available for a trifling sum are home planning kits covering each individual house and containing respectively an enlarged illustration of the house; enlarged, simplified, easy-to-read floor plans; cut-out scale furniture which can be placed in each room on the floor plans and arranged and re-arranged until you have worked out rooms that are closest to your heart's desire; and a list of the key materials required for construction of the house from which your building contractor should be able to give you a reasonably accurate preliminary estimate of costs. For a final cost estimate, the detailed building plans would be needed.

THE FIRST FLOOR PLAN has dining room, living room, bedroom, kitchen and bath. As a basic unit, the dining room might be used as a second bedroom.

TWO MORE BEDROOMS AND another bath make up the second floor, which can be finished at the time of original building, or when the budget allows.

These booklets, titled "Modern Brick Homes," and priced at 50 cents, can be bought at most newsstands, or they can be ordered direct from the publisher, the Structural Clay Products Institute, 1756 K St., N.W., Washington 6, D.C.

After securing the confession and information as to where he had secreted the radios, police went to the lot adjoining the Voltz property, but the radios were gone.

Housing Allocations Listed; Bucks Included

HARRISBURG, July 1 (INS)—Pennsylvania's $50,000,000 housing and redevelopment program was accelerated today by the State Planning Board's allocation of the $15,000,000 contributed to the job by the Legislature.

Final allocation of state funds will not be made until after August 15 while participants must file all pertinent data on projects by November 1, the Board said. The State's share, an outright gift, is to be supplemented with private capital and possible Federal funds.

The State's contribution to individual programs is limited by law to 25 per cent of the total cost; rentals will be in line with income of occupants. Veterans will be given preference in renting.

Local governing bodies must adopt formal resolutions pledging co-operation by August 15.

The board has partitioned Pennsylvania into nine districts and made among others the following tentative allotments:

Southeastern District—Bucks, Chester, Delaware and Montgomery counties, $1,373,520.

Proper Training For Youth Is Stressed

"It is the duty of parents to instill, by good example, a real sense of responsibility in their children to their community, their church, their God and their vocation," was the message the guest speaker left with Rotarians at the Elks' Home yesterday afternoon.

Harry H. Verdier, Jr., industrial secretary of the Germantown YMCA, and executive secretary of the Philadelphia Foremen's Club, emphasized the importance of proper training of the youth of today so that they will be instilled with a sense of responsibility to a good, clean, healthy outlook on life, not only physically, but spiritually and mentally as well.

Guests were present for the meeting from Bensalem, Philadelphia, Morrisville and California, with president Warren H. Woodruff in charge.

Home Life of Women in Japan is Well Described

CHURCHVILLE, July 1 — A native of Japan, Mrs. B. Tamura, now residing in Warmminster, spoke to members of the Church League of Service here this week. Mrs. Tamura informed the members that women in Japan have the same interests in home, school, church and world peace as do women in America.

Mrs. Tamura also took the group on an imaginary visit to a Japanese home, which is very simply furnished, but will always have a flower arrangement because the people are naturally artistic.

The women, Mrs. Tamura said, have very little freedom. Schools are scarce and compulsory education stops at the elementary grades, but morals and discipline are stressed. Japan is full of religion. Confucianism, Buddhism and Shintoism still exist, and Christianity has not spread like in other countries, said Mrs. Tamura. Japanese people she said, need spiritual guidance now as never before. They also need physical help.

Several doll, dishes, chopsticks etc., were on display, and Margaret Loughhead modeled a beautiful silk kimono, which in Japan are always made by hand.

One of the symptoms of our modern moral breakdown is the frequency with which the word "hell" is being used as an expletive in "polite" society. The modern novel, the modern playhouse, even some modern periodicals have come to accept "hell" as just another punctuation mark.

Unfortunately, a concept cannot be made less hideous by its frequent use. Hell will remain hell whether we use the word or not. And hell will remain hell whether we like the idea or not.

The idea of future punishment is an integral and inseparable part of the Christian religion. Yes, there is a hell!

SPORTSMEN'S BRIEFS

By JOE ELKERSON

Opening today... bass, the most sought-after species of fresh water fish in this section of the Commonwealth, if not in the entire State, became legal this morning at 12:01 a. m.

A report of opening day results is not possible as this is being written, but it is a safe bet that the Canal will be the biggest producer, in spite of the fact that the water level is very low.

The usual assortment of flies, bugs, streamers, plugs, spoons and garden hackle will be offered by anglers seeking this fresh water fighter at Maple Beach, Silver Lake and the Canal. Surface plugs will probably take the biggest toll during the early morning hours with underwater lures more effective during the day.

The same rules apply as last year, with the minimum size still nine inches and the daily creel still remaining at six. Pickerel, walleyes, muskellunge and great northern pike also became legal today on inland waters of the Commonwealth. The pickerel will no doubt furnish plenty of sport for local fishermen, with the same Canal producing the most of the species. Pickerel must be a foot long to be "keepers" with the same daily creel limit as bass.

Meeting... Walt Parker, secretary of the Newportville Rod & Gun Club, advises that the next meeting of his club will be held Wednesday, July 6th, at 8:30 p. m. All members are asked to be in attendance. The meeting will be held at the club house on Haunted Lane, Edgington. The annual picnic and outing of the club is scheduled for all day Sunday, July 10th. Members and their friends are welcome.

A good cause... duck stamps, which annually become void after June 30, will give double aid to wildfowl conservation under a plan advanced by Ducks Unlimited.

Duck hunters are asked to donate their old stamps for sale to stamp collectors. Proceeds will be used for duck production projects on the Canadian breeding grounds.

Just leave the stamps attached to state hunting licenses and mail to Ducks Unlimited, 342 Madison Avenue, New York 17, N. Y.

Conflicting reports... sportsmen, who have an opportunity to get around the countryside these days give varying reports on the number of young pheasants seen in their travels. Some haven't seen any while others declare there seems to be a better supply of young birds than for the past several years.

One thing is certain. If dry weather is conducive to pheasant rearing in the wild state then we should have a good season. One evening, during the beginning of this week, I saw 5 different lots of young pheasants within a radius of 5 miles of Bristol. This is more than I have seen for several years.

Closed... don't plan on shooting a mountain sheep in Alaska this year. The season has been closed by the Fish & Wildlife Service for the first time in the Territory's history.

Mark it down... the third, big quarterly meeting of the Bristol Fish & Game Protective Association will be held Tuesday evening, July 12th. Full details will be announced next week. The principal speaker will be J. Allen Barrett, director of publicity and public relations for the Pennsylvania Fish Commission, who has an appealing message for both youths and adults.

Bagful... Ollie Hobbs, Bristol's best all-around fisherman, called me one evening recently and asked me to stop by. When I arrived he was awaiting with a tremendously big canvas sack which was securely tied. Ollie was still in a pair of trunks and thoroughly unbuttoned. When asked what was on his mind Ollie replied by inviting me to his basement where he untied the sack and dumped 7 nice snapping turtles into a metal wash tub. They filled the tub. Largest one weighed over 15 pounds. They represented one day's catch with rod and reel at Silver Lake! Ollie also had another monster, over 25 pounds, which he captured in a New Jersey lake.

FIFTH WARD WINS ITS 8TH GAME IN SUBURBAN LEAGUE

Fifth Ward Sporting Club won its eighth game of the Bristol Suburban Softball League last evening by winning over St. Ann's A. A. by the lopsided score of 17-4 on Memorial Park field.

The Warders made a total of 14 hits off the two St. Ann's hurlers, Fred Barbetta and Steve Masne. The winners were also aided by eight St. Ann's miscues.

Manager "Reds" Pica used 15 players in the game, giving all his players a chance to see action. Pica and "Bumps" Constantino had two hits each for the Warders.

Henry Liberatore held the losers to eight hits. One of these was a tremendous drive to left field in the final frame by John Monachello and was good for a home run.
